*Just a weanling,
but so much potential to be the next herdsire.*

Caravaggio is immediately recognizable with his long flowing locks and curious nature. He's the first to welcome someone to his pasture, waiting for treats and a rub on the neck. He loves to run alongside you and play with the other weanling boys. He has excellent confirmation, just like his multiple award winning sire NGG Accoyo Apache II. His fleece is locked to the skin and glistens in the sun, even though usually he is covered in hay. Caravaggio will begin showing this fall, and I am anxious to see how he fares. I expect that he will follow right in his sire's footsteps, so keep an eye on Caravaggio..
